

should not engage in those industries that must be protected in those for which the country is naturally adapted by nature. Turkey and the American States adopted this policy, and the result is too well known to need mention. No nation can truly great unless it has the industries, and the more varied the country, the greater the prospect for the country. The United States have had since she adopted her trade policy in the beginning? She have been a barren waste, a failure in history, instead of wielding mighty influence she has in the idea that a protective tariff is to be levied upon the consumer is not to be by the protective duty imposed on a single article of manufacture of which no nation

MR. EDITOR.—A few weeks ago, a friend sent me two copies of the Advertiser, which I was very much interested in. I was glad to hear that I was from my native town, Hanover, and vicinity, it was like reading a letter from home. It occurred to me, that perhaps, I could find words from this away state might be very pleasantly interesting to your readers.

We find ourselves very pleasantly situated in the south-western part of the county, in the vicinity of the agricultural district. Grain raising is the principal business, and a large number of branch of farming, but farmers are beginning to see that this is not the proper course to pursue. Many are turning to stock raising, and fast as the country is being settled, the number of cattle and horses have been brought into this vicinity, and soon we will have the product of blooded stock.

We have a fine country for stock.

It makes no difference what business you are engaged in: whether you are a preacher, a merchant, a mechanic, a farmer, a common laborer, you can always do your work well while you are in the rack. Thousands try to, but all in vain. How much better to keep your organs in good order by taking Parker's Kidney Pills when you feel the little out of sorts. It would be money in your pocket. One hour of good, rejoicing health is worth half a dozen hours full of grief and pain.
